JUNE 2018

Kids' Marksmanship Camp

The Cheyenne Mountain Shooting Complex at Fort Carson offers a kids shooting clinic on the first Saturday of the month for youth ages 6 to 16. The clinic begins at 9:00am and ends about 11:30am. It is open to all kids and they must have an adult attend with them. Firearms are limited to .22 caliber rifles only. Kids can bring their own. A limited number of loaner rifle are available. Ammunition, ear, and eye protection are provided.

The clinic begins with a class on the basics of a firearm, shooting techniques, and safety. Kids are then given supervised range time.

Kids compete in age groups in open sight and scope divisions. All kids are entered into a drawing for a free rifle.

To register, call the Cheyenne Mountain Shooting complex at (719) 896-6196. There is a range fee of $10.

The Cheyenne Mountain Shooting Complex (CMSC) is a partnership between the U.S. Army, El Paso County, the El Paso County Sheriff, Colorado Parks and Wildlife, and the U.S. Forest Service. The 400 acre site sits on Army land near Interstate 25 just off mile marker 132. The entrance is located just outside Fort Carson's Gate 20 security perimeter. Shooters using the range will not have to enter Fort Carson to use the range.

Combat/Conflict Mindset

Our June 14th PPFC meeting will feature a presentation by Chad Edwards. Conflict or "combat" mindset is the ability to act effectively and ethically under adversity. While sounding simple, it has nothing to do with weapons, holsters, tools, or other gear. Conflict or combat mindset is CRITICAL and NECESSARY to your survival during adversity. This guided discussion will cover topics of conflict avoidance, the pillars of conflict/combat mindset including: Technical, Tactical, Mental, Physical, Emotional, Ethical, Moral, and Law. This is an opportunity to gain exposure to the least recognized, but most important aspect of your survival in PPFC Newsletter: Mail or Email?

To reduce costs, the PPFC is considering emailing our monthly newsletter to PPFC members who have an email address registered on the www.ppfc.org website. A hardcopy will be mailed to those members who do not have email and to those members who specifically request a mailed copy. A survey will be sent to current PPFC members asking if they want a mailed copy. Lapsed and former members will only get an emailed copy.
